

Through the composition of a keyhole, we glimpse a small universe framed by illness. The keyhole symbolises a life under observation, but also the boundary we face within ourselves – a line that separates sweetness from pain, freedom from restraint, outward understanding from inner truth.

林宇芹 The Keyhole Taiwan

